MEMORANDUM OPINION
REGARDING FACTORS
TO BE EVALUATED FOR ANY PROPOSED CLASS
SETTLEMENT

For the guidance of counsel, please keep in mind the following factors that will typically be considered in determining whether to grant preliminary approval to a class settlement:

1. ADEQUACY OF REPRESENTATION.

Is the plaintiff an adequate representative with standing? Is plaintiff motivated to and qualified to act on behalf of those he or she seeks to represent? Are there shortcomings in the 1 plaintiff that would be advanced to defeat a class certification motion? What is the litigation

2 history, criminal history, and relationship to plaintiff's counsel? In an employment case, how
3 long did the plaintiff work for the employer? The opinion of the lead plaintiff as to the fairness
4 of the settlement to absent class members must be provided to the Court, along with an opinion
5 by counsel. Adequacy of counsel is not a substitute for adequacy of the representative.

6 If a settlement proposal is made prior to formal class certification, there is a risk that the 7 class claims have been discounted, at least in part, by the risk that class certification will be 8 denied. All counsel should explain whether this risk was discussed and/or considered in the 9 negotiations and, if so, why the rights of non-parties should be prejudiced merely because the 10 particular "representative" (or his or her counsel) might be deemed inadequate or other 11 requirements of Rule 23 might be unsatisfied.

12 2. DUE DILIGENCE.

13 Has class counsel performed due diligence (discovery and investigation) to learn the 14 strength and best-case dollar amount of the class claim, including preparation of a final expert
15 class damage report? Please remember that when one undertakes to act as a fiduciary on behalf
16 of others (here, the proposed class), one must always perform adequate due diligence before 17 acting.

18 3. COST-BENEFIT FOR ABSENT CLASS MEMBERS.

19 In the proposed settlement, what will absent class members give up versus what will they 20 receive in exchange, i.e., a cost-benefit analysis? If the recovery will be a full recovery, then 21 much less will be required to justify the settlement than for a partial recovery, in which case the 22 discount will have to be justified. This will require an analysis of the specific proof, such as a
23 synopsis of any conflicting evidence on key fact points. It will also require a final class-wide
24 damage study or a very good substitute, in sworn form. If little discovery has been done to see 25 how strong the claim is, it will be hard to justify a discount on the mere generalized theory of 26 "risks of litigation." A coupon settlement will rarely be approved. Where there are various 27 subgroups within the class, what will be the plan of allocation of the settlement fund and why?
28

1           4. THE RELEASE.

2           The release should be limited only to the claims certified for class treatment. Language
3 releasing claims that “could have been brought” is too vague. The specific statutory or common
4 law claims to be released should be spelled out. Class counsel must justify the release as to each
5 claim released, the probability of winning, and its estimated value if fully successful. Does the 6 settlement contemplate that claims of absent class members will be released even for those 7 whose class notice is returned as undeliverable? Usually, the Court will not extinguish claims of 8 individuals known to have received no notice (and/or for whom there is no way to send them a 9 settlement check).

10           5. EXPANSION OF THE CLASS.

11           Typically, defendants vigorously oppose class certification and/or argue for a narrow
12 class. In settling, however, defendants often seek to expand the class, either geographically
13 (i.e., nationwide) or claim-wise (including claims not in the complaint) or person-wise
14 (e.g., multiple new categories). Such expansions will be viewed with suspicion. If an expansion
15 is to occur it must come with an adequate plaintiff and one with standing to represent the add-on 16 scope and with an amended complaint, not to mention due diligence as to the expanded scope.
17 The settlement dollars must be sufficient to cover the old scope plus the new scope. Personal
18 and subject-matter jurisdiction over the new individuals to be compromised by the class
19 judgment must be shown.

20           6. REVERSIONS.

21           A settlement that allows for a reversion of settlement funds to the defendant(s) is a red
22 flag, for it runs the risk of an illusory settlement, especially when combined with a requirement
23 to submit claims that may lead to a shortfall in claim submissions.

24           7. CLAIM PROCEDURE.

25           A settlement that imposes a claim procedure rather than cutting checks to class members
26 for the appropriate amount may impose too much of a burden on class members, especially if the 27 claim procedure is onerous, or the period for submitting is too short, or there is a likelihood of 28 class members treating the notice envelope as junk mail. The best approach is to calculate

1 settlement checks from defendant's records (plus due diligence performed by counsel) and to
2 send the checks to the class members along with a notice that cashing the checks will be deemed
3 acceptance of the release and all other terms of the settlement.

4 8. ATTORNEY'S FEES.

5 To avoid collusive settlements, the Court prefers that all settlements avoid any agreement
6 as to attorney's fees and leave that to the judge. If the defense insists on an overall cap, then the 7 Court will decide how much will go to the class and how much will go to counsel, just as in 8 common fund cases. Please avoid agreement on any division, tentative or otherwise.
9 A settlement whereby the attorney seems likely to obtain funds out of proportion to the benefit
10 conferred on the class must be justified.

11 9. DWINDLING OR MINIMAL ASSETS?

12 If the defendant is broke or nearly so with no prospect of future rehabilitation, a steeper
13 discount may be warranted. This must be proven. Counsel should normally verify a claim of 14 poverty via a sworn record, thoroughly vetted.

15 10. TIMING OF PROPOSED SETTLEMENT.

16 In order to have a better record to evaluate the foregoing considerations, it is better to 17 develop and to present a proposed compromise after class certification, after diligent discovery
18 on the merits, and after the damage study has been finalized. On the other hand, there will be 19 some cases in which it will be acceptable to conserve resources and to propose a resolution
20 sooner. For example, if the proposal will provide full recovery (or very close to full recovery)
21 then there is little need for due diligence. The poorer the settlement, the more justification will 22 be needed and that usually translates to more discovery and due diligence; otherwise, it is best to 23 let non-parties fend for themselves rather than foist a poor settlement on them. Particularly when 24 counsel proposes to compromise the potential claims of others in a low-percentage recovery, the 25 Court will insist on detailed explanation of why the case has turned so weak, an explanation that
26 usually must flow from discovery and due diligence, not merely generalized "risks of litigation."
27 Counsel should remember that merely filing a putative class complaint does not authorize them
28 to compromise the rights of absent parties. If counsel believes settlement discussions should

1 precede a class certification, a motion for appointment of interim class counsel must first be
2 made.

3 11. A RIGHT TO OPT OUT IS NOT A CURE-ALL.

4 A borderline settlement cannot be justified merely because class members may opt out if
5 they wish. The Court has an independent duty to assess whether it is reasonable and adequate.
6 Once the named parties reach a settlement in a purported class action, they are always solidly in
7 favor of their own proposal. There is no advocate to critique the proposal on behalf of absent
8 class members. That is one reason that Rule 23(e) insists that the district court vet all class
9 settlements.

10 12. INCENTIVE PAYMENTS.

11 If the proposed settlement by itself is not good enough for the named plaintiff, why
12 should it be good enough for absent class members similarly situated? Class litigation proceeded
13 well for many decades before the advent of requests for “incentive payments,” which too often
14 are simply ways to make a collusive or poor settlement palatable to the named plaintiff. A 15 request for an incentive payment is a red flag.

16 13. NOTICE TO CLASS MEMBERS.

17 Is the notice in plain English, plain Spanish, and/or plain Chinese (or the appropriate 18 language)? Does it plainly lay out the salient points, which are mainly the foregoing points in 19 this memorandum? Will the method of notice distribution really reach every class member?
20 Will it likely be opened or tossed as junk mail? How can the envelope design enhance the 21 chance of opening? Can notice be supplemented by e-mail notice?
